PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION!

Gov. Chamberlain Interviewed.

New York, Nov 23.—The World's correspondent at Columbia interviewed Governor Chamberlain yesterday upon the action of the board of canvassers and supreme court. The board of canvassers, in sustaining the action of the board, [illegible] that under the law, which is mandatory, they could do nothing else but adjourn. The [illegible] says that it shall sit ten days. The board [illegible] on Friday, 10th at 12 M., and omitting Sundays, the ten days had expired at 12 [illegible] to-day. The governor says that the board [illegible] its duty by certifying to the election [illegible] Wheeler, and in throwing out [illegible] of Edgefield and Laurens. The [illegible] not admit the power of the supreme court to control the action of the board [illegible] of its existence and is certain [illegible] had no power to extend that time. [illegible] that the board has not been [illegible], because the court in all its [illegible] has put no restraining order on [illegible]. When asked what would be the [illegible] action of the board, the governor [illegible] not certain, but thought it would [illegible] act in a large drama, in which [illegible] might be called upon to take [illegible] his opinion of the supreme court, the governor said he would not [illegible] its motives, and would only say that [illegible] in a [illegible] and tampering manner [illegible] a restraining order in the first [illegible] as the board had taken up [illegible] the members in con[illegible].

[illegible] the question whether the U. S. [illegible] in any way interfere with State [illegible] Governor said the court might [illegible] to reconvene the board of [illegible] for any purpose would affect federal [illegible] and might interfere and stop such [illegible]. If the legislature, as finally [illegible], should throw out counties whose returns [illegible] been attacked because of illegal [illegible] and if by this action I should be elected [illegible] certainly stick. It is my opinion [illegible] count I have not less than [illegible]. The correspondent asked the [illegible] what would be the result if two [illegible] should meet next Tuesday to [illegible] he did not know, but supposed [illegible] to that the federal government would interfere as it had done in similar [illegible] the matter one way or the [illegible].

[illegible] Bond is here, but for what purpose [illegible] know, unless it is the intention [illegible] to carry the matter into [illegible] courts, but any duties of the [illegible] the election of members of [illegible] Presidential electors might be [illegible] by the U. S. courts if the State Supreme Court should take any action hereafter [illegible] or threaten to affect the [illegible] electors or members of Congress, [illegible] it likely the jurisdiction of the U. [illegible] interfere to protect members of [illegible] the ground that they were in [illegible] Federal duties, and having [illegible] according to law could not be [illegible] contempt by a State court.

[illegible] Opinion.

[illegible] Columbia reporter interviewed [illegible] to-night. He takes the [illegible]. He has no fears of the [illegible], the board of canvassers [illegible] contempt and has faith in the [illegible] Court to compel a fair [illegible].

[illegible] Court Reconvening the Board.

[illegible] issued an order recon[illegible] to-morrow. A [illegible] board assures me that he will [illegible], and characterizes the court as a [illegible] scoundrels. The plain inference [illegible] here are acting under [illegible] Washington.

[illegible] S. C., Nov. 23.—The board gives [illegible] adjournment sine die first [illegible] they interpret it, required [illegible] and said if they had not done [illegible] might hereafter claim that [illegible] power to issue certificates, because the time for them to do it has expired. [illegible] it was done to prevent the [illegible] of the Democrats getting any advantage [illegible] on pretense that the board [illegible] with the law.

[illegible] Nov. 22.—Considerable excitement [illegible] throughout the State, but [illegible] no demonstrations of violence. [illegible] of the board of State canvassers is [illegible] by Republicans, while the [illegible] claim it has no effect, because the [illegible] is in the hands of the Supreme [illegible] the board is guilty of contempt [illegible] the determination to continue [illegible] and bring matters to a conclusion. Last night the Democratic counsel [illegible] a writ of mandamus issued yesterday [illegible] by the court on officials composing the [illegible]. Supreme Court will meet to-morrow [illegible] the returns of the board of supervisors. The Adjutant and Inspector General [illegible] of the board of canvassers says [illegible] his office.

[illegible] on the South Carolina Returning Board.

[illegible] Nov. 23.—The Times' editorial [illegible] action of the South Carolina [illegible] of canvassers as does that of [illegible]. The Sun has nothing to say [illegible] what it calls the Republican [illegible], while the World is furious [illegible] board's action, the foulest outrage [illegible] characterizing it as a brazen and [illegible].

The [illegible] Advertiser editorially says [illegible] of the board of State canvassers of [illegible] has had a tremendous effect on [illegible] but then everything has [illegible] to favor Republicans and they [illegible] this morning fairly beside them [illegible] charge that the board has been [illegible] contempt for not waiting until a [illegible] should be served on them and in [illegible] all kinds of nonsense. If the board [illegible] the courts still remain, and if [illegible] has been done irregularly it will [illegible] be made all right. But that is not [illegible], we imagine. The Democrats know [illegible] did its whole duty, but their plan [illegible] yell fraud at every opportunity, they [illegible] just now to be consistent.

New York, Nov 23.—Speaking of the [illegible] in South Carolina, the Post editorially says: The best thing the South Carolina board of canvassers can do is to reassemble as [illegible] that the Supreme Court of the [illegible] asked it to do so. The country will not be satisfied with proceedings that look like sharp practice. We admit that the [illegible] Court itself is not free from suspicion [illegible] practice. It seems to us that the only question [illegible] properly before it was the question whether the powers of the board were [illegible] ministerial, or judicial as well. [illegible] in South Carolina say that the [illegible] was that if the votes which in its [illegible] ally counted and reported to the court should not show a Democratic majority it could [illegible] would direct a judicial canvass to be made in the hope of securing such majority. We do not say that the charge is well founded, but certainly the course of the court invites criticism. No appearance of judicial sharp practice, however, can excuse the sharp practice of the canvassers. The proceedings of yesterday in South Carolina will not convince the country that the canvass is honest and fair.

The Situation at Columbia.

The Times Columbia special says: [illegible] absurd ridiculous rumors obtain currency [illegible] here, I am creditably informed that in the rural counties it was reported yesterday that Chamberlain had deposed the supreme court, arrested Wade Hampton and done [illegible] other terrible things. In response to these reports, hundreds of armed men were preparing to rush into Columbia and the town would probably have been filled with mounted riflemen before this had the reports not been contradicted from here, and the rifle clubs told to remain where they were. The action of the court yesterday is being discussed everywhere. Republicans here are firmly convinced now that it was the intention of the Democrats to keep the board in session until after the time in which they could legally act had expired, and then spring upon them that they had failed to comply with the law in time and had no power to certify to the election of any of the electors. I was told to-day that three out of seven members of the Democratic executive committee were in favor of issuing an address to the people of the country saying they make no issue with regard to the Presidential electors but only claim they have elected the Governor and a minority of the legislature. They would never attempt to claim anything else had it not been from a pressure brought to bear upon them by the Northern Democrats, and they have got tired of being made the cat's paw with which to draw Tilden chestnuts out of the fire. No one need be surprised to see such an address issued to the public within a week.

Florida.

Washington, Nov 23.—The Republican committee have received a dispatch from Tallahassee saying the returns from the [illegible] counties are all in and on their face show a majority of 765 for the Republican electoral ticket.

A Tallahassee correspondent declares that Judge White has no jurisdiction or authority in matters relative to counting votes for federal officers. Only federal courts can be appealed to. Returns from Democratic counties are still kept back.

Tallahassee, Nov 23.—Gov. Stearns presented an affidavit in court this morning stating that he had never stated he had decided to canvass the vote nor had he so decided. He was empowered to canvass the votes. The Democratic counsel argued the Governor had no right to canvass which belonged to the canvassing board and that the court has jurisdiction over the Governor in restraining him from performing an illegal act. Gen Barlow replied denying the jurisdiction and declared the injunction would be worthless. He advised the judge to carefully consider the risk he ran in issuing a writ of injunction that could not be enforced by any legitimate procedure if the Governor was determined to resist it. At the close of his argument of which this was the only point, the court adjourned. The decision will probably be made to-morrow.

There is some excitement here. It is generally believed the Governor will not obey the injunction if issued. Republicans deny that the courts have jurisdiction. The Secretary of State this evening says three counties, Dade, Brevard and Lafayette, have not yet been heard from.

New York, Nov 23.—Attorney General Cocke, of Florida, telegraphs to the Herald in answer to inquiry respecting the powers and duties of the State board of canvassers of Florida, also respecting the claims of Gov. Stearns to canvass the votes of the people of that State for Presidential electors, and also respecting the delay to begin canvassing the vote of the State, as follows: First, Governor Stearns has no authority under the laws of Florida to canvass the vote for Presidential electors. Second, a State board of canvassers is constituted by the laws of Florida, under act of February 27, 1872, consisting of the Secretary of State, Comptroller and Attorney General. The same act requires the votes to be sent to the first named member of the board, to-wit the Secretary of State, and also requires him to notify the other two members of the board to assemble and proceed with the canvass of the county returns which he has received. This has been publicly protested against by the electors voted for at the last election. Moreover the members of the board have each of them been commanded by a competent court of this State to show cause why they should not go on with their duty. The continuance of such delay on the part of the Secretary of State would have the misfortune of preventing proofs of alleged frauds from being exhibited to the board as ground for purging the returns, or the misfortune, possibly, of preventing the vote of the Presidential electors of Florida from being cast in conformity to the will of the people.

Louisiana Returning Board.

New Orleans, Nov 23.—The board met at 11.30. Present for the Democrats Messrs Palmer, Bigler, Trumbull, Julian and G. B. Smith; for the Republicans Messrs Stoughton, Stevenson, Parker, Clarke and Farwell. Judge Spofford, of counsel for Democratic candidates, submitted the following:

The undersigned, of counsel for candidates on the Democratic conservative ticket, respectfully represent that they are informed and believe that the supervisors of registration for fourteen parishes had not filed their returns here at the time the board adjourned yesterday, that many of these returns are and have been for some time in New Orleans in the hands of Republican supervisors and of a Republican candidate for Congress, that a proof of the fact appears in the affidavits filed relative to the parishes of Ouachita, Lafayette, East Baton Rouge, Red River, Franklin and others, that it appears from statements made by Gen Anderson before the board on Monday last that the returns for St. Landry were in New Orleans on that day, though reported not filed yesterday. Wherefore the undersigned move that supervisors or other persons holding said returns be ordered to bring the same before this board of returning officers forthwith. The annexed proof shows that M. J. Grady, supervisor for Ouachita, has had his returns here in this city for a week past, J. A. Vesey, supervisor for Lafayette, had his returns here a week ago, and F. A. Clover, supervisor for East Baton Rouge, has been here with returns for ten days past, that A. W. Carroughe, supervisor for Red River, has been here with his returns for seven days past, that H. C. McKay, supervisor of Franklin, forwarded his returns on the 12th inst., and is now in this city, and George S. Smith, Republican candidate for Congress in 4th district, is in the city and brought from Shreveport, has had and still has under his control some of the returns from Red River parish and said fourth district, and the annexed copy of a circular letter to the supervisors of registration from D. J. M. A. Jewett of the Republican campaign committee, shows that they were instructed to bring the Republican vote of their parishes up to a prescribed figure. On motion of Gen Anderson the president of the board instructed the secretary to issue an order to all supervisors in the city to file their returns immediately. A request was made by the Democratic counsel that they be notified as to the order in which the contested parishes would be taken up so they might have time to summon witnesses from distant parts of the State. President Wells said the rules governing the board could not be changed, that notice would be given which contested parish was to be considered, but there was no order established. It was agreed that the parish of East Baton Rouge should be the first contested parish taken up.

Gen Anderson, rising to a question of privilege, said the law under which he, as a member of the returning board, is now acting, differs from that of 1870. The present law differs in that it does not state that a candidate will be eligible to act on the returning board. Gen Anderson went on giving a history of the law and his appointment. He remarked that the returns from the parish of St. Landry were on the way from the parish, having been detained at the mouth of Red River by low water. Judge Spofford [illegible] stated on the [illegible] Gov. Wells [illegible] asked for the facts and evidence. He [illegible] thought they had [illegible] [illegible] Col Zacharie had a letter from [illegible] Col [illegible] State central committee [illegible] the necessity of appointing [illegible] Kennedy [illegible] the board [illegible] were conducted fairly and justly. [illegible] had proof [illegible] parish [illegible] returns were reported to have been disposed [illegible]. Also a certified copy of affidavits of the [illegible] at the disputed polls, also an affidavit concerning the conduct of the [illegible] at poll No 10 who it was stated was in [illegible], also several other statements about matters pertaining to this poll. Gov. Wells said they also had statements furnished this morning concerning that poll.

Col Zacharie—I have a copy of a protest and objection against the vote of certain polls in the parish of [illegible] which I would ask the board to take into consideration and an affidavit in regard to fraudulent voting and intimidation of Democratic commissioners' representation at the polls and establishing polls in isolated places and not publishing them according to law and a statement of facts in connection with the [illegible]. He would like the board to take into consideration and fix the case for a particular day.

M. Gray stated that the document filed Wednesday relating to the rules adopted by the board was not a protest but a suggestion intended to induce the board to modify certain of the rules, especially the one referring to the reception of affidavits of officers of election as prima facie evidence. He urged upon the board the necessity of such modifications.

Zacharie asked for a statement of what returns are actually in the hands of the board which were not yet prepared.

Wells in answer to a question said the request in regard to opening all returns was refused. The board could not open any returns in public. He said the electoral vote must be completed by December 6th.

Mr McGloy—There are several parishes in which there are contests which will require six or seven days to communicate with and get people down here as witnesses. How are we to protect our interests? If we receive but two or three days notice we will not have time to bring our witnesses here. I suggest to your honorable body that you might grant the request to open the papers.

Gov Wells—Well I don't see why, as a practising lawyer, you can't have witnesses at court ready when your cases come up. Have your witnesses here. Without any request on our part we will furnish you with a statement whenever there is a contest.

Mr McGloy—I beg to differ with you in regard to your idea of proceedings in the contest. As a matter of fact, we have the record before us. We know the character of the demand against us, and what testimony we have to bring to meet that demand. If we are suing we know the nature of our proceedings. We know the proof necessary to establish our claims.

Gov Wells—That is very true, yet you know there is a contest, and you ought to be prepared to meet it.

Mr McGloy—But we don't know what the nature of that contest is until we see the papers. If a man claims a thousand dollars, we must ascertain if his claim is based on a promissory note, or for a horse. We know there are contests in this parish but we want to know the nature of them.

Judge Spofford—I understand that we are authorized to examine the contested parishes.

Gov Wells—The seals have not been broken. We are going on with the uncontested parishes. When we are through with the uncontested parishes we will go on with the others.

Judge Spofford—We can come in and see the seals broken?

Gov Wells—Oh, yes.

Gen Anderson—Oh, oh, no.

Gov Wells—We break the seals ourselves.

Gov. Wells explained that they could have admission when the seals were opened, but when the papers were examined he could have access to them before action is taken.

The room was then cleared, and executive session commenced. Madison parish was called and a bunch of papers was produced containing what was called a consolidated statement of Madison parish polls. It seemed from remarks of the supervisor that there were no returns from poll 5 of that parish, that a vote had been properly polled there, but at 6 o'clock, when the counting of the votes commenced, a body of armed men appeared and, presenting their guns and pistols at the heads of the commissioners, took forcible possession of the ballot box, and took it away, since which time it has not been seen or heard of. Nothing is known of the vote. The sworn statements of two commissioners at the polls, which showed the vote was unanimous for Kellogg and Packard—[illegible] votes. Then Gen Anderson read from the consolidated vote for Presidential electors: Kellogg 2[illegible], other Republicans about the same; Tilden electors 315 to 332. An error was found in the name of Felix P. Poche, it being some times J. O. Poche, but was all put down as one man, Gov Wells saying it was so intended by the voters. Gov Palmer insisted that the poll was included in this count, but had been put in the wrong column, and Gen Anderson partly agreed with him, but the question was passed temporarily to await more evidence. Returns from Union parish were then taken up. It gave McEnery 1,0[illegible] and Packard eight. After the close of the examination the returns were pronounced correct and another parish taken. The board to-day completed the canvass of only three parishes, as follows: Natchitoches, Tilden 1,761, Hayes 2,009; Union, Tilden 1,495, Hayes 94; Iberville, Tilden 957, Hayes 2,297. At one poll in Natchitoches the board threw out 512 votes for the Republican electors and 173 votes for three Democratic electors on account of informalities. The vote for five Republican electors in Natchitoches was 1,568. In Iberville five Republican electors received only 1,848 votes instead of 2,297, owing to the omission of names on ballots. The board would probably take up the contested parishes to-morrow.

Louisiana.

New York, Nov 23.—The Tribune's New Orleans special says: When the returns from La Fourche were reached to-day, no returns were found to have been received from the 10th precinct, but a note was appended by the supervisor of the registration saying that the man who brought them to him was intoxicated. The question was raised by the Democrats whether that was a legal excuse for the supervisor not reporting the returns. In the 1[illegible] precinct of the same parish a portion of the Republican tickets contained the names of only three electors, and the official returns made by the commissioner of election showed that the others have run behind the remainder of the ticket, but the supervisor of the parish in consolidating the returns counted the electors whose names were omitted as having received as many votes as the other three. At this poll no Democratic votes were cast. The returns from seven parishes were opened to-day. At the meeting of the board this morning returns from 19 parishes had not been received, although the election took place 16 days ago. Returns from about half these parishes are known to have been in the city some of them a week.

Chicago, Nov [illegible].—The Times' New Orleans special complains that the Democrats are treated unfairly every way by the canvassing board, who prevent Democrats getting witnesses, exclude press reporters during actual work, and allow the returns to remain in interested hands. Evidence from the so-called bull-dozed parishes brings written statements of [illegible] residents that there was no intimidation. [illegible] could only get an audience [illegible] speaking in East Feliciana. The negroes are now Democrats because the radicals have stolen their school money and [illegible] abused their confidence. [illegible] North have been got up by the Republicans themselves.

Bad for Haralson.

An Inter Ocean's Washington special says: Jere Haralson, colored member of Congress from the 1st Alabama district, publishes a letter showing that the sheriff of Dallas county, [illegible] his opponent in the canvass for Congress this year, arrested him three days before the election, took him to jail and, holding a pistol to his ear, compelled him to sign a document whose contents were unknown under threat of instant death. The paper proved to be a retraction of some charges against the sheriff and a formal withdrawal from the canvass in favor of the sheriff. Haralson had 119 majority, but the Democrats threw out one precinct which had 2[illegible] votes, electing his opponent. Haralson was elected to the present Congress from that district by over 1,000 majority.

Garrisoning Washington.

New York, Nov [illegible].—The Tribune's Washington special says: There has been no new arrival of soldiers to-day, but more companies are on the way or under orders to come here. A high officer of the army says that within a week or a few days there will be 22 companies in Washington, which will comprise all we here; perhaps 1,500 or 1,600 men. It is not disclosed whether this will be all the force gathered here, but probably not. It is likely two or three gunboats [illegible] here, as they would certainly be useful if any force should be necessary.

A Question as to the Legality of the Kentucky Election.

Cincinnati, Nov 23.—There is a flutter among Kentucky politicians over the allegation just made that at the election in that State voters did not cast their ballots for Presidential electors but for Hayes and Wheeler and Tilden and Hendricks direct. This raises the question as to whether the twelve electoral votes of Kentucky can be legally counted for Tilden, and if maintained, may result in a loss to the Democrats of twelve votes in the electoral college. At any rate the discussion of the question has created a profound sensation.

The Kentucky Blunder.

Louisville, Nov 23.—Concerning to-night's press dispatch from Cincinnati in regard to the repeated failure of both Republicans and Democrats in Newport and Covington to vote for the electors, prominent men here say as the vote for President in Kentucky is viva voce, the names of all the electors being printed on poll books, it has been the custom of voters to say "I vote Tilden and Hendricks" or "Hayes and Wheeler" as the case may be, and in the voter's presence the clerks tally one vote for each of the electors of the ticket voted. The so-called irregularity is considered here as of no consequence whatever.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Russian Troops Arriving at Belgrade.

London, Nov 23.—A dispatch from Belgrade says a crisis seems approaching in Eastern affairs. Russians are coming in great numbers via Gladowa, and a heavy detachment of Cossacks are en route to Belgrade. Its commander says it is the advance guard of [illegible]000 men, destined for Servia. All barracks in Belgrade have been evacuated and repaired. The Servian troops will be quartered in private houses. It is reported a distinguished Russian civilian will accompany Gen Sempegent, Tchernayeff's successor, to Belgrade, and will reside there during the campaign and have charge of all civil administration.

The Arab correspondent seems to correct the resignation of Servian ministers with the foregoing statement, also says Servia will be the extreme right wing of the Russian line of operations. Servians will be sent to Bosnia under their own officers. Roumania pontoon trains are all in the Danube ready for use. I have official information that Moslems in Bosnia have raised $400,000 for defense. We shall support any proposals that offer a guarantee of orderly government of the insurgent provinces without involving rectification of the international frontiers. If our labors are fruitless we shall not throw ourselves on the side of either contestant, but shall watch what the future may bring forth.

Closing Russian Ports.

London, Nov 23.—The board of trade of this city has received a telegram from Lord Loftus, British ambassador at St. Petersburg, stating that Russia has given official notice that the harbors of Odessa and Sebastapol, mouths of the river Dnieper and straits of Kertch are obstructed, and vessels forbidden to approach in the night time, and must communicate with the guard ship before entering in day light. Entrance without permission from the guard ship is absolutely prohibited.

Ragusa, Nov 23.—The Turkish troops in Bosnia have evacuated Glamatz, Livno, Petrovasc and Narcf, and concentrated at Sarajevo. A Turkish corvette, whose continued presence in the Austrian Port of Gravosa after repeated summons from the authorities to quit excited much comment, has at last sailed, on a threat by Austrians to search her for contrabands of war.

Information comes from Vienna that Austria will prevent any abuse by Turkey, such as landing or embarking troops, or of the privilege of entering the harbors of Klek and Gravosa.

St Petersburg, Nov 23.—The Czar to-day received the Austrian ambassador and renewed his assurance of his love of peace.

London, Nov [illegible].—A dispatch from Constantinople announces that the Sultan decreed absolute abolition of the slave trade throughout the Ottoman empire.

Passenger Trains Stopped.

A correspondent of the Daily News at Pesth says: A telegram from Lemberg reports that even ordinary passenger traffic on the railway between Keim and Odessa has been stopped. Russian troops are being removed from the Austrian frontier.

Unfounded Rumors.

London, Nov 23.—The Times gives this morning a formal contradiction to the rumor circulated in the Stock Exchange yesterday that Lord Beaconsfield has resigned and Lord Derby to be his successor. The Times adds: We have also authority to state there is no foundation whatever for the reports of dissensions in the cabinet.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

A formidable panther is making things lively at Hastings town site.

The Standard says the preliminary survey of the Fraser valley is now completed.

The route for a telegraph line from Nanaimo to Victoria via Goldstream has been surveyed.

The objects for which the Fraser Valley Railroad Co. was organized having been accomplished, the company has been dissolved.

Rabbi Myers, formerly of Sydney, Australia, has been put in charge of the Jewish Synagogue in Victoria. The Sunday School is now in operation and religious services will be held every Friday evening and Saturday morning.

Mr Robert Stevenson, who has just returned to Victoria from Cassiar, brought with him three plants of the Arctic or green rose for acclimatization in this lower country. The flower attains the size of an ordinary tea rose and flourishes amid fields of perpetual ice and snow, generally securing a lodgment in glacier moss.

The N. Y. Tribune is responsible for this: There is one less mouth for Uncle Sam to feed at the Standing Rock Agency on the Upper Missouri. The Indians while cutting up their beef on October 16 twitted Wild Bear about hanging round the troops. The scout resented the insult and Crooked Neck, [illegible] the Blackfeet, retorted by drawing a knife and attempted to stab him. An Indian duel was arranged without delay. Wild Bear borrowed a rifle and left the corral with Crooked Neck at his heels. Shots were exchanged with great rapidity, the marksmen gradually approaching each other. The scout killed his man, shooting him again and again while standing over his prostrate body. At the agency the murderer was complimented for ridding the post of a quarrelsome and treacherous Indian. Such a brutal scene as this does not tend to increase public respect for the agency system.

The entertainment given by the ladies of the M. E. Church last Thursday evening was a very enjoyable affair. The recitations, singing, etc., by the small folk were excellent, and the big folks performed their parts in a creditable manner.

The Centennial Still Grinding.

Philadelphia, Nov 23.—On and after to-morrow the charge for admission to the exhibition grounds will be 25 cents. The dedication ceremonies of a monument emblematic of religious liberty, erected by the Independent Order of Bnai Brith, will take place Thanksgiving day.

Operations against the Indians.

Cheyenne, Nov 23.—General Crook's command reached Fort Fetterman November 18th in good condition and was paid off by Major Stanton. The weather is severe, but the troops are well prepared for a winter campaign. One hundred Snake and Shoshone Indians joined the command there, making nearly 400 Indian allies in all and the total strength of the command at 2,000. The hostile Indians, according to the best information, are scattered on both sides of the Big Horn mountains, and a campaign on each side may be necessary before completing the work. Meantime Crazy Horse with about four hundred lodges is encamped on the Rosebud near the scene of the June fight, for which point a cavalry command under General McKenzie moved from Reno on the 22d inst., and would have to march about six days before reaching it. The cavalry are in excellent condition, and if this movement is successful the heaviest work of the winter will have been accomplished.

Through the Mill.

New York, Nov 23.—William S. Woodward, who failed in the Rock Island corner for $3,000,000 in 1871, was discharged in bankruptcy to-day.

Billiard Tournament.

New York, Nov 23.—The billiard tournament resumed this afternoon, the game being between Maurice Daly and Joe Dion. The former was winner in the 28th inning by 67 points. Winner's average 10 14-28. The first game this evening was between Garnier and Cyrille Dion, the latter winning in 30 innings. Average 10. The last game of the evening was between Schaefer and Slosson, the latter winning in 43 innings.

Arrival of Tweed.

New York, Nov 23.—Wm. M. Tweed landed this afternoon at the foot of Grand street and North River, from the revenue cutter, and was taken in a carriage by the sheriff, under sheriff and order of arrest clerk Stacey to Ludlow street jail, where he was admitted through the gate and not by office as usual. He remarked on being admitted to the cell by Warden Watson, "I thought I would come and see you again." No person is allowed to see him to-night and no one but the watchman will be permitted to enter. The experience of his escape has made the officials of Ludlow street very watchful. He will be treated precisely as other prisoners, and allowed no privileges. His rooms are much smaller than those previously occupied by him and are accessible only through the warden's apartments.

Tweed was visited by his son, Wm. M. Tweed, Jr., and an unknown person. They remained two hours. Tweed closed his door and refused to be seen. After supper he retired and was not visible again during the night. The prison is thronged by reporters, and the visitors are so mixed up that the warden has hard work noting who is who. Tweed's delivery by the naval officers was made in the presence of District Attorney Phelps, U. S. District Attorney Bliss and Sheriff Conner. Mr. Phelps has not decided yet whether the forgery suits will be pressed against Tweed. However an order has been served on the sheriff calling for the arrest of Tweed should he procure bail in the civil suits pending.

Shot in a Political Row.

Columbia, S. C., Nov 23.—Thos. Bent, son of the sheriff of Richland county, was shot and fatally wounded by State senator John Cochran of Anderson county, here last night. The difficulty grew out of a political discussion.

Arrival of the Franklin.

Sandy Hook, Nov 23.—The steamship Franklin is now lying off the lightship.

New York, Nov 23.—The U. S. steamer Franklin, with Wm. M. Tweed on board, is expected to arrive at quarantine about noon.

Returned to Winter Quarters.

New York, Nov 23.—Tweed was landed from the tug Catalpa at pier No. 4 North river at ten minutes to four and was immediately taken to Ludlow street jail in a close carriage.

Centennial Award.

Philadelphia, Nov 22.—The following are among the additional awards made to-day: M. Wilkins, Eugene City, Oregon, combing wool; [illegible] Reed, Portland, long combing wool; Hampton Kelly, Portland, fruit butter. Of the Oregon collection of fruit, H. Lambert, Portland, apples; Seth Luelling, Milwaukie, pears; J. E. Sedlak, Portland, collection of prunes.

Work at the Navy Yards to be Stopped.

New York, Nov 23.—The Times Washington special says: It is now understood that construction work in all the navy yards will be stopped in a few days. There is no money to pay workmen, the appropriation at the last session having been very small. The excitement about the arrival of troops here has entirely abated.

Washington, Nov 23.—The President has recognized Frederico De Lafuente Saberat as Consul General of Peru for California and John W. Grace as Consul of Peru at San Francisco.

Town Site Patents in Mineral Regions.

Washington, Nov 23.—The commissioner of the land office to-day decided in the case of Butte City, Montana, that patents may issue for town sites in mineral regions, but as all valid mining claims and possession are by law excluded from operation of patents, the title of them remains in the United States after the town site patent has been issued, that title to claims can be only acquired under the mining act, and that patents may issue for mining claims situated within the exterior boundaries of a townsite entry or patent. The decision reverses a decision previously rendered by the general land office that placer mining claims could not be included within the exterior boundaries of a town site patent.

Burnett's Successor.

Washington, Nov 23.—James H. Dupont, inspector of customs at New York, has been appointed supervising inspector general of steamboats, vice Burnett.

Important Recommendations by General Sherman.

Washington, Nov 23.—Gen. Sherman's annual report to the secretary of War says: by the assignment of Major General Schofield to the superintendency of the military academy it is made equal to that of a division command, and West Point should rightfully constitute a military department, so that its superintendent as the commanding general of the department may exercise all the powers and functions of such a commander, especially to order general courts martial, to approve or disapprove their findings and to execute all sentences not especially reserved by the articles of war to the President or Secretary of War. The military academy, in addition to its well established character as a literary and scientific school, should form the nucleus of an army, and the habits of the youth trained therein should be in exact accordance with what experience has demonstrated to be necessary for the efficient government of an army in the field. The academy under Gen. Schofield's administration will take rank among the first educational establishments of the world. The aggregate force of the army now consists of [illegible] men, all actively employed as though war existed. By subdivision of territory every fort is under the supervision of a general officer near at hand, with part of the army [illegible] to the supposed necessity to maintain peace, whereby the settlement of the country may progress and civil officers be enabled to enforce the laws of the United States. On the military division of the Atlantic there are no hostile Indians, but troops have been actively employed aiding U. S. marshals in enforcing the revenue laws and in protecting the weak against the prejudices of the strong in the civil elections. These duties call for the highest qualities of firmness and prudence, and I am sure the behavior of the troops in every instance has commanded the respect of all men. The care and preservation of public property and of seacoast forts is a chief duty of troops. The chief military events of the year have transpired on the military division of Missouri. I am not yet in possession of Gen. Sheridan's report, but will endeavor to give a concise report of the chief points as gathered from reports and letters. In the Department of the Gulf troops under General Augur have been shifted from place to place in aid of the civil authorities under the same state of facts as in the Department of the South, with similar results, and have always used their power with consummate discretion and good judgment. On the Texas frontier, especially the Mexican border, has long existed an unsatisfactory condition of affairs. Civil war has existed in the border Mexican states, and each faction has at times sought asylum on this side of the Rio Grande, but from General Ord's letters and reports there seems to be an organized system of robbery by small bands of Mexicans and others who cross back with their stolen property to the other side, where they are comparatively safe from pursuit from our troops, who rarely hear of the raid until it is too late to intercept them. I believe no one supposes the authorities of the national government of Mexico can be privy to this nefarious business, and it is probably carried on in spite of the better people on both sides of the border. There are now in Texas two regiments of cavalry—the 8th and 10th—which will be filled up as rapidly as possible to the maximum standard, and three regiments of infantry—the 10th, 20th and 24th—which are necessarily very small under existing laws. Still I hope with increased activity these troops will suffice to protect the border from incursions. In the Department of Missouri the Indians of New Mexico have been remarkably good, and the Kiowas, Comanches, Cheyennes and Arapahoes located on the reservations at or near Fort Sill have been exceptionally quiet this summer, though requiring for reasonable security of the Kansas frontier pretty strong garrisons at Forts Sill, Elliott and Dodge, and the support of small garrisons along the Arkansas river and K. P. R. R. The chief events to which Gen. Sherman refers are relative to the war with the Sioux, and after giving a detailed history of the late expedition against them and the death of Custer with his command, etc., Gen. Sherman says: Col. Hazen, [illegible] infantry, commanding at Fort Buford, has started up the Missouri river for Fort Peck with four companies of his regiment, the 6th Infantry, to head off Sitting Bull, who is reported by surrounding chiefs to have slipped out with thirty lodges, his own special followers, during the retreat down Bad Route creek, and to have resumed his course for Fort Peck or the British possessions. Col. Miles reports his purpose to replenish his supplies, to turn north and follow this last desperate band to the death. Gen. Crook organized a new column at Fort Fetterman, with which he left on the 27th of October for another early winter campaign against the faction of hostile Sioux under Crazy Horse. Gen. Sheridan, in his last dispatch on this subject, uses this language, which I cordially endorse: If successful, of which I do not doubt, the Sioux war and all other Indian wars in this country of any magnitude will be over for ever. Arrangements made for hemming in and capturing the remainder of the hostile Sioux during the winter must result in comparative or complete success. Meantime no change can be attempted this year at the agencies, but I trust next year the Sioux nation will be compelled to remove to the Missouri river near Fort Randall, where they can be guarded and fed at half the present cost, and where, if there be any chance to civilize them, the opportunity will be far better than in their present scattering agencies.

Heavy Failure.

London, Nov 23.—Alfred Allott, head of the firm of accountants in Sheffield, has failed, liabilities estimated at $1,050,000.

Alfred Allott, whose failure was announced yesterday, is an extensive iron master and colliery proprietor. He is connected as partner with the Russia Iron Works, Derbyshire, the Newbridge Iron Co. in Northamptonshire, and Ruby Iron Mines, Cornwall. Depression in the iron trade and unfortunate speculations in America caused the failure.

Germany.

Berlin, Nov 23.—The Reichstag has rejected the propositions of the committee on law courts for a bill prescribing that persons accused of high treason shall be invariably tried by jury, and allowing the use of Polish language in the courts of Posen.

London, Nov 23.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times telegraphs that Bismarck has assured the Marquis of Salisbury of the pacific intentions of Germany, which in the event of a collision would cause her to observe friendly neutrality toward all parties concerned. While hoping for a settlement Prince Bismarck did not conceal that he regards the circumstances as menacing.

The Enterprise says: Mr. Richard Hurley, one of the best assayers on the coast, made an assay last week of some ore said to be from the celebrated silver mines in Wasco county, and he says there is not the slightest trace of silver in it.

The Coos Bay Record says: The people of Gardiner are wide awake to the interests of their flourishing little town, doing all they can to induce travel from the interior that way. Gardiner has many natural advantages and is destined at some future day to make a large town, being situated on the Umpqua river at the nearest practicable point from its mouth. It has a good locality, and the trade and travel from the interior is bound to come down the Umpqua river. The line of travel from Gardiner to Coos Bay is a pleasant one: nine miles by water and 18 miles down the ocean beach.

The Enterprise says the Cascades Mining Co. now has provisions enough at the mine to feed several men until the 1st of April next, and have a tunnel commenced and several tons of gold ore in sight, and confidently predict that before six months they will be ready to turn out bullion. They have a perpetual water power of 75 inches with 50 feet fall on the claim, and plenty of timber easy of access. The mine is located on the waters of the North Fork of the Santiam and is easy of access for either pack animals or wagons, and very little work to make roads to within one half mile of the mine.

The Cascade Mining Company of Oregon City has elected the following named persons as directors for one year: W. W. Myers, J. M. Frazer, T. J. M. Carver, R. Hurley, M. Bell, J. A. Buck and David Mulkey; and after a majority of the directors were sworn in they met and elected J. M. Frazer president, J. A. Buck vice president, F. J. McCarver secretary, W. W. Myers treasurer, R. Hurley superintendent of the mines, and adopted a code of by-laws for their government, and made an order offering for sale nineteen thousand five hundred shares of stock at $1 per share, which stock is not assessable until an amount equal to the value to fifty thousand shares has been expended in the developement of the mine, the purchase of machinery, &c., and it was ordered by the board that the work of the mine (Mulkey Lode) should be prosecuted as fast as can be conveniently done.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 24 1876.

A CHANGE NEEDED.

The present plan of electing our President and Vice President is open to several grave objections, among which may be enumerated the delay and confusion always liable to be caused by the death of electors before they shall have performed the duties for which they were chosen. It is true that most, and probably all, of the States have provided for filling vacancies occurring in this way, but this does not remove the difficulty although it may lessen it.

A much more serious and important objection is found in the fact that persons are frequently nominated and elected to the important position of Presidential electors, who are afterwards found to be ineligible, or at least open to question on that account. The most enthusiastic advocates of party machinery will not have the hardihood to claim infallibility for their nominating conventions. In the ordinary course of things, it is impossible that such bodies can anticipate all objections, and guard against the liability to place upon their tickets persons who are not strictly qualified for the position.

This is extensively illustrated in our late election. The country has just passed through one of the most closely contested and exciting political campaigns ever witnessed. For many days the nation has held its very breath while anxiously awaiting the result, so intense is the suspense. While returning boards in the doubtful Southern States have been busily engaged in determining how to do it, or, perhaps, how not to do it, the respective parties whiled away the time by inquiring into the eligibility of the various electors whose States have no doubtful majorities. For instance, it is claimed that one of the electors chosen in Oregon is disqualified from serving, from the fact of being a postmaster. The same claim has been made with reference to an elector from Vermont. In the States of Iowa and Connecticut, though of opposite politics, the people are perturbed by the reflection that they have added to the general muddle by electing in each a United States commissioner.

It is also said that six of the electors chosen by the "Solid South" are ineligible on account of their political disabilities. It is mentioned in our late dispatches, that the entire vote of Kentucky is liable to be thrown out because the people there voted directly for the Presidential nominees, instead of voting as the law requires for electors. Whether this shall prove to be true is not so material to the question we are considering, as is the fact that such a blunder is liable to occur under the present plan of electing a President and Vice President.

It is not our purpose now to discuss the legal questions involved in the several objections made to the eligibility of the electors referred to. Those questions properly belong to the courts to settle; and it is to be hoped that the latter will have sufficient courage and freedom from partisan bias to decide them wisely and impartially.

Besides, the present plan of election adds greatly to the agitation and excitement which, to some degree, must always attend popular elections. This is certainly an evil.

Some of the shrewdest foreign students of American politics have remarked, that in the frequency and intense excitement of our elections lurks a danger which threatens the perpetuity of our institutions.

Again, as our elections are at present managed, and with the prevailing low tone of political morals, the average elector, who has the good fortune to belong to the successful party, ordinarily becomes a prominent and importunate applicant for office. The direct tendency of this is to deteriorate the public service.

The present plan is essentially and entirely vicious. It has outlived at once the purpose for which it was instituted, and its usefulness; and in view of the numerous objections which may be properly urged against it, there is no longer any excuse for its continuance. In the early organization of the government, it was intended that the States should select high-minded and wise patriots, who without any interference or dictation by nominating conventions, should meet and deliberately canvass the qualifications of leading men for the position, and finally select a President and Vice President. This has long since been done away with. The electors now have no other duty to perform than to cast their votes for the nominees of the national convention of their party, and then to apply to the incoming President for a fair share of the victors' spoils.

All the objections to the present plan can be easily avoided by permitting the people of the several States to vote directly for President and Vice President; let the votes be counted as now provided in case of State elections, and the result certified directly to the proper authorities at Washington. It would be well if Congress would take action upon the subject and propose an amendment to the constitution to remedy the evils before it is too late.

THE POWERS OF THE GOVERNOR AND SECRETARY OF STATE IN COUNTING THE ELECTORAL VOTE.

So much has been said recently by the Democratic press, and by leading Democrats, concerning the canvass of the votes for Presidential electors in this State, that it has come to be generally understood that some effort will be made to issue a certificate of election to the Democratic candidate having the highest vote, on account of the alleged disqualification of Dr. Watts. Just how this is to be done does not clearly appear, but the right of the board of canvassers to take such action has been widely discussed, and by some insisted upon. A matter of such vital importance deserves far more consideration than it seems to receive at Democratic hands.

That the position of elector is a State position can hardly be questioned, since it is filled by the State, and in a manner regulated by the State law. It follows that the various questions arising in regard to the election are to be settled by some tribunal under the State government, unless the fact that the construction of a clause of the federal constitution is involved, gives jurisdiction to the federal courts. What is the proper tribunal to decide these questions, the Executive or the courts?

Section 60, page 578, of the general laws of Oregon, provides that—

> The votes for electors shall be given, received, returned and canvassed as the same are given, returned and canvassed for members of Congress.

Section 87, page 573, referring to the election of members of Congress, provides:

> That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of State, in the presence of the Governor, to proceed, within thirty days after the election, and sooner if the returns be all received, to canvass the votes given for member of Congress [and other officers named therein]; and the Governor shall grant a certificate of election to the person having the highest number of votes, and shall also issue a proclamation declaring the election of such person.

This is the whole of the law upon the subject, and neither the Governor nor Secretary of State has any duties to perform or rights to exercise, except those conferred by the statutes above quoted. It seems perfectly clear to the average Democratic mind that this statute ought to be construed as though it read, "the governor shall not grant a certificate of election to the person having the highest number of votes, except that person be a Democrat."

We apprehend that the whole duty of the Secretary of State is, to count the votes as they are returned to him by the several counties, and the whole duty of the governor to grant the certificate of election in accordance with the count made by the secretary. There is certainly not an intimation in the law that these officers of the State are invested with judicial powers to determine a contest between different persons claiming to be elected to the same office. Supposing it to be a fact that one of the persons receiving the highest number of votes is, for any reason, disqualified; how, under the statute, is this fact to be made to appear to the board of canvassers? How are the proofs to be heard? By what rules are the proceedings to be regulated? There is but one way in which the board of canvassers can proceed to carry out the Democratic idea, and that is by direct violation of the law, and by a usurpation of powers which do not belong to them, but are vested in the courts of the State. It is, or ought to be, a matter of great satisfaction to any good citizen to know that the political officers of the State do not possess judicial powers to the extent claimed; because, however fair and honest they may be deemed, yet they are politicians and partisans, elected on account of loyalty to their party, and expected by their friends to serve it whenever it is within the bounds of possibility to do so. The courts are differently constituted, are not political organizations, and we believe they will not be, as they ought not to be, influenced by partisan or other considerations except to administer the law, and to do justice between parties appearing before them for a determination of their rights.

EVERYTHING STILL IN CONFUSION.

We can give our readers no definite information yet as to the final result of the Presidential contest. But the question is narrowing down considerably, so far as the disputed States are concerned. The Republicans carried South Carolina by a clear majority on the vote for Presidential electors, and dispatches this morning warrant us in concluding that Florida also is safe for Hayes by a majority of all the votes cast. Only Louisiana remains in uncertainty. It appears to be conceded by well-informed Republicans, who have been at New Orleans studying the situation, of whom Judge Stanley Matthews, of Cincinnati, is a fair representative, that a majority of the votes cast in Louisiana are for Tilden; but this count includes all the fraudulent and forced vote of the Kuklux parishes, and is not to be considered anything like a fair vote. Judge Matthews thinks that, counting in all the fraudulent votes, the Democratic majority will not exceed 4,000, while it is well known that the fraudulent vote cast for Tilden greatly exceeds that number. Hayes now has two of the three disputed States, and a fair count would undoubtedly give him the third and the election. But certain ugly rumors are afloat concerning the returning board of Louisiana, which, if true, may be accepted as an indication that the action of the board is to be anything but fair. It is to be hoped this rumor is without foundation. The board set out with so great a show of honest intentions, that in spite of its former odorous reputation, the distrust of the country began to give way, and the severe scrutiny with which their proceedings were watched began to relax. There seemed every reason to hope for an honest count of the votes, and not that only but a count, the fairness of which would be so manifest, that all the country would at once recognize it and acquiesce in the result, when declared. It will be a misfortune, not on account of this election alone, but on account of the wide and deep injury to republican institutions generally, if the rumor alluded to should prove true. The hope of all lovers of free institutions will be one that it may turn out to be only, of those baseless rumors got up by designing and interested persons to influence the action of the board.

Meanwhile, the legal complications with which this contest bristles, continue to multiply. South Carolina gets into a muddle, in which both the returning board and the Supreme Court of the State have laid themselves liable to severe criticism, and by which it is not impossible, a serious collision may be produced. In several of the States persons having disqualifications and disabilities have been chosen electors, and serious questions arise as to whether they can act. Meanwhile a report from Kentucky is to the effect that no electors at all have been chosen in that State, the votes having been cast directly for the candidates for President and Vice President. What with the postmasters and U. S. commissioners, and the unreconstructed rebels, there were complications enough to keep the legal wits of the nation actively at work during the short time that intervenes between now and the day when the electoral vote is to be cast and certified; but this Kentucky business adds another, and not a small, item to the chances that in the end the votes of the people may be sacrificed to the necessities of the law.

A Democratic candidate for Congress in Alabama, by a gentle application of a Colt's navy to the head of Haralson, his opponent, succeeded in inducing him formally to withdraw from the canvass. This ought to have been sufficient to settle the question; but it was not, for the Republicans still insisted on voting for Haralson, and notwithstanding his formal withdrawal as above stated, it required the throwing out of 2,240 votes to defeat him. He was clearly ineligible after thus withdrawing, and Coghlan or Kelly, or both, ought to be sent to Alabama immediately to look after the matter.

On inquiry, we learn that our information that the Democratic managers had applied to the courts for help to keep Dr. Watts out of the Electoral College, was incorrect. They still consider the Governor and Secretary of State, with the Kelly attachment, entirely sufficient.

The report that Kentucky has chosen no electors is altogether too absurd to be believed. The capabilities of the American people in the way of doing ridiculous things about election times, are immense, but we doubt if they are equal to this performace.

Senator Kelly is coming back to help Gov. Grover find out how not to do it; and Coghlan is coming to show all the benighted Oregonians how it can be done. 'Rah for Hayes!

CITY.

VACCINATION.—Dr Hingston mayor of Montreal recently delivered a very able address in smallpox and vaccination He showed that vaccination does afford a certain degree of protection from smallpox From 1[illegible]0 to 1800 when there was no vaccination the average [illegible] from smallpox amounted to about 10 per cent of the whole In the half century succeeding vaccination the deaths from the same cause had sunk to 3½ per cent Coming to particulars the proof is still more conclusive. During the first ten years of the century the deaths from smallpox in England were 64 in every thousand in the second decade, 42, in the third 35 in the fourth [illegible], and in the fifth, 16 The Doctor is of opinion that in any case for ten or twelve years after [illegible] there is absolute protection but if the vaccination has been done thoroughly that protection will continue for a much [illegible] period Thereafter one re vaccination is held to be enough to secure absolute and permanent protection for the rest of life [illegible] have urged that there is a risk through vaccination of inocculating the system with [illegible] or other hereditary diseases This idea has, however been so thoroughly ex[illegible] that Dr Hingston says it scarcely deserves to be treated seriously

[illegible] LIST.—The O S S Co s steamship Geo. W Elder sailed from San Francisco [illegible] afternoon at 2 o'clock bringing the following passengers Col J R Bachelder U S A, Capt E C Merriman U S N, Capt J. W. White. THAT ELOPEMENT.—We made mention on [illegible] of Tuesday of a couple of young [illegible] hailing from Eugene, who came hither [illegible] to be united in wedlock In speaking of the circumstance of the would be [illegible] leaving the girl at the car shop the contemporary says It appears that [illegible] Boyd, of Baker county who was a fellow [illegible] observed that the young lady was [illegible] and that her companion took [illegible] opportunity to whisper to her and keep up her fast-failing courage The doctor at this [illegible] interfered and found that the girl s [illegible] was her step-father s brother and a [illegible] as cowardly as he was mean, and [illegible] judging that he did not intend to keep [illegible] with the girl he set on foot the [illegible] "intimidation" which caused the [illegible] to flee when no man pursued Dr [illegible] and received a free pass for the [illegible] evening and this morning she started [illegible] satisfied that she had escaped a fate [illegible] than death "

THE SUNKEN STEAMER.—News which was [illegible] yesterday from the Cascades with ref[illegible] to the condition of the O S N Co s [illegible] Daisy Ainsworth, is not very favorable [illegible] who went up Wednesday with a [illegible] men to get the disabled steamer off if [illegible] gives it as his opinion after making [illegible] tion of the condition of things, that it will prove a total wreck He [illegible] the boiler and machinery can be got off [illegible] of the upper works saved. Yesterday steamer Idaho was brought alongside [illegible] and the work of dismantling [illegible] submerged craft commenced All the [illegible] will be taken off and the furniture saved [illegible] thinks that he can raise the hull, [illegible] be converted into a large barge

[illegible] AT CASCADES.—Mention was made [illegible] days ago of the fact Mr. F M Warren, [illegible] for several years has been engaged in the [illegible] fishing business at Cathlamet, con[illegible] the erection of a large cannery at [illegible] Cascades. We understand that the [illegible] will be commenced at once Mr. Felix [illegible] who has had charge of Mr Warren's [illegible] at Cathlamet the past season will go down the river this morning to [illegible] point, where he will procure the necessary [illegible] and proceed with a force of men to [illegible] Next Monday the work of [illegible] the building will be commenced and [illegible] vigorously to an early completion

TO HAVE CHARGE OF TABLES.—The following [illegible] have consented to take charge of [illegible] at the forthcoming Charity Fair in aid [illegible] St. Vincent's Hospital Refreshment Tables, Mrs Cushen Mrs. Brown and Mrs Mc[illegible] Fancy Tables, Mrs Herman and Miss [illegible] Showers, Mrs Carroll and Miss Lillie [illegible], Misses Mary Maher Lilien Ryan and [illegible] Neppach, Miss Maggie Burke and [illegible] assistants. Candy Stand Misses L. and Rosa Norton Postoffice Misses Raleigh, Mary Carroll and Lizzie South [illegible] Frolic, Mrs E Caballo

[illegible] FOR DAMAGES.—Last June during the high water, Jacob Bloom the well known retail dry goods dealer, had some difficulty with Mr [illegible] White of the firm of [illegible] White & Co. High words followed and Bloom alleges that White assaulted him and inflicted a se[illegible] injury Deeming himself great[illegible] and outraged, Bloom brought suit [illegible] Mr. White at the present term of the [illegible] Court laying his damages at $10 [illegible]. Yesterday the case was on trial and will probably be submitted to the jury this [illegible].

WHERE IS GEORGE?—Anxious friends would be glad to receive some information concerning the whereabouts of Mr Geo W Bayless [illegible], Harrison county Ohio If living is [illegible] of age He was above the medium [illegible] light complexion dark curly hair [illegible] appearance About the year 1862 he was in business in Portland Oregon with one Harry Douglass, left that city was in San Francisco eight years ago and is supposed then to have gone to Prescott Arizona Since that time (8 or 10 years ago) he has not been [illegible] of.

[illegible] TO THE DEAD.—As a token of respect to the memory of the deceased Mrs Donald [illegible], we understand the office of the Oregon and Washington Trust Investment Co and the Oregon and Washington Mortgage Savings Bank, will be closed all day to day Mr Donald Macleay being a director in [illegible] of these banking institutions We learn also that the [illegible] of the British ships now lying at this port have asked permission to attend [illegible] funeral of the deceased lady which w[illegible]

CATTLE SAVED.—Kinney Bros to whom the cattle on board the steamer Daisy A[illegible] [illegible] when that boat sunk received a dispatch yesterday from the Cascades from which it appears they have not sustained a very heavy loss. The telegram states that most of the cattle on board had been got ashore safely Out of the 202 head on board the steamer when she struck only about 45 head were missing As it was feared most of the stock would be lost Messrs Kinney Bros can consider themselves in big luck

THE SILVER SPRINGS.

S PORTLAND Nov [illegible] 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Allow me space in your paper to answer the many hundred questions asked me daily about the big bonanza, as though I knew all about it Allow me to say to one and all that I know absolutely nothing about the [illegible] only from hearsay The only authentic assay I have ever made [illegible] given me certificate for was one for Geo White which assayed $1400 per ton This assay was verified by Drs Harvey and Fox by quantitative analysis Mr Plummer also brought me some of the mud which I assayed for my own satisfaction and found it to contain from $2 800 to $3 100 per ton which was also verified by the same parties and several others [illegible] and I have made as many as twenty assays said to be from other claims and have not found the least trace of silver, excepting one for Beemer which was $24 per ton At first I had no faith in what was told me about the mud springs but after talking with White Ross McLennan and Bruce I became convinced that what they said was true, and I invested some $500 but I would not advise any one to invest in them because I have for [illegible] am as liable to be deceived as any one My business is only to test the richness of ores as they are brought to me but who brings them or where they come from, others can judge as well as myself I have opposed getting up companies and selling stock on outside claims until they were fairly tested for I would dislike as much as any one to see anything like wild cat stock imposed upon the people The [illegible] claim is the only one that I have been in favor of stocking, and I have favored that because I had faith in it yet I am as liable to be deceived in that as any one

THE BONANZA.

PORTLAND, Nov [illegible] 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I am pleased to find that my letter of the 21st has had the desired effect. I beg to assure Portlander that I quite agree with him in one respect—the glacial theory is very strange but not half so strange as the mud spring discovery Perhaps Portlander can tell what chemical action will disintegrate quartz and leave silver in a metallic state? Also how it happens that in the residuum (which means what remains after the metal is extracted) silver can be seen by the aid of a microscope? Suppose Portlander experiments a little in this way let him take a few ounces of pure silver, pulverize it and mix it thoroughly with whitish mud how would that prospect? Portlander asks "where are the big pieces? Echo answers where In the drift that around the springs, on sinking from seven to nine feet you reach a gravel bed and strike water, as every resident of Ochoco will testify How then can you ever get down to Portlander s ledge with the big pieces?

ANNIVERSARY AT HOOD RIVER

Miss Annie Watson, writing from Hood river says

To day was a happy day at Hood river—the anniversary of the Pacific colony, which event was celebrated in a style that I have never seen equalled for like numbers Every body was cordially invited to attend and such a turn out has never been witnessed at this place The school house was handsomely decorated, a most sumptuous dinner reading singing one beautiful feature a large moss covered cross in the center of the room with motto beautifully designed, In God we Trust made by Miss Etta Smith and Miss Ada Potter, singing by the same young ladies reading by Mrs L Smith song composed and sung by S J Lafrance Just one year old after which various games base ball on the beautiful grounds at the school house, At evening old and young were kindly invited to the party given by Mr Potter which was a most happy occasion May many more similar occasions be theirs

Just here Mr Editor allow me to append a note to myself from Mrs Potter, one of the colonists which shows how well these people are satisfied Mrs Potter says to Miss Anna Watson "We are all desirous that our Eastern friends (and enemies) may know that we are still in a prosperous condition—in spite of all the slander that has been written about us—also the envyings etc Will you please send me some copies of the paper that this is published in as I want to send it and have our home papers copy—and remember [illegible] who stole our Co[illegible]

Buyers of wheat are offering 80 cents per bushel

Lane county at the last circuit court furnished two inmates for the penitentiary for terms of one and five years

The city has ordered the construction of about 3000 feet in length of sidewalk They are determined to keep out of the mud

During the present week the County Court allowed claims against the county amounting to $4 500 This is the largest amount ever allowed at a single term

The farmers of this vicinity are busily engaged taking advantage of the fair weather in breaking and preparing the soil An increased acreage will be sown should weather continue favorable

The public schools of this city have about 200 names enrolled upon their lists while only three teachers are employed and the seating capacities of the house will not accommodate over 150 This state of affairs has been brought about by the economical views of a few wealthy men who to escape the payment of a small tax oppose efforts made by the friends of education to secure a better house and an ample supply of teachers for students attending

The monetary situation to-day shows no important change from the condition of affairs—supply moderate demand and steady rates [illegible] from time to time for the past month. The call [illegible] ing forward the produce movement is quite large at present but as it is met by outside capital to a great extent the local moneyed institutions are but slightly affected. City banks and brokers appear to be enjoying a fair run of custom and borrowers in a small way are in very considerable numbers [illegible] real estate securities for accommodations for one to three years. The amount of commercial paper on the market though still not considered large has materially increased since the first of the month.

Within the last year half a dozen savings banks in Missouri have failed, revealing that instead of being depositaries where the savings of the people would be safe, they are more traps. Missouri like New York, has a system of State inspection and has about as bad a one. The St. Louis Globe makes some well put remarks about the deception the State practices on the people when it pretends to superintend institutions but allows them to swindle the public. The Globe holds that in such cases the State should be held as a guarantor and compelled to refund losses through institutions it has undertaken to regulate. The plan of the Globe would be a practical application of a suggestion made long ago by Herbert Spencer. The chief advantage of the attempt to carry it out would be that it would drive the State out of the superintendence business. The experience of Missouri in savings banks and New York in savings banks and insurance [illegible] is not very favorable testimony to the value of State supervision.

Domestic Produce.

The week under special review has been one of marked activity in this branch of trade and the [illegible] volume of transactions has been unusually large. The arrivals of tonnage seeking or under charter to some extent give the market an active appearance and coupled with the firm tone of the English wheat market and an upward tendency in prices induced exporters to launch out in the business of making purchases, and their agents report very considerable quantities secured at several points in the valley. The boats and cars are bringing forward very large lots to this point and the vessels taken and receiving good dispatch. Private telegrams from Liverpool to-day denote an advancing market, but shippers here claim the price which the cereal bears here is above the Liverpool price, expenses included, hence we hear of no advance in the home market above the rates quoted for two or three days past. There are 16 vessels in port here and 3 at Astoria. Of these about 10 are receiving their cargoes. The others are discharging ballast or awaiting room at the wharves which are some what crowded.

Flour is in full supply and the demand for shipping to San Francisco being weak the market is sustained only by orders from the northern ports and a tolerably active home trade with some shipments to China and Europe. Parties east of the [illegible] are seeking shipments to San Francisco, the lower price of wheat there allowing a [illegible] shipments, while the rates for the raw material in this valley and cost of [illegible] and transportation nearly shuts off shipments of flour hence to that port. Oats are not coming forward in any considerable quantity and but few shipments have yet been made this [illegible]. The current [illegible] of the surplus in the State is small, and some claim that the total exports [illegible] be more than half the average for some years past. Mill feed hay etc are in moderate supply, and prices are steady. Provisions are in rather short supply though receipts of the past few days [illegible] aided in supplying the local demand. Prices show a tendency to shade off a little and bacon is held at 16½c ℔, while lard has declined to [illegible] ℔. Dairy products show no change, trade in them is dull and prices depend mainly on qualities. Eggs are firm to day at 40c per dozen, and such as will bear any guaranty of freshness are scarce. Potatoes are plentiful, and shipments being [illegible], prices rather weak at 35@40c per bushel. Ripe apples are coming into market in large quantities, but the present demand is [illegible] to home consumption, the San Francisco market being over supplied with fruits from other sources. Prices here range from 25@75c per bushel according to quality and wants of buyers.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty-one gentlemen citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an institution where similar to those in California the working farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory (to which the Bank's operations are limited) secured from Mortgages over City Properties Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the industries of the North Pacific coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities their policy will be to guard depositors moneys and the stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted such as real estate loans advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value. Hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors.

The security for repayment of Depositors moneys is two fold:

1st. Not only the mortgages assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory but also

2d. The Bank's own $300,000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom thus forming a double security for depositors moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books.

Deposits received from $1 50 and upwards

Rates of interest on application

Hours from 9 A M to 3 P M

Certificate of Incorporation, Constitution Articles of Association Regulations and By laws for depositors may be seen at the Bank's office.
